LEGENDARY K-ZONERS DOING LEGENDARY THINGS.

LIGHT LUMINARY

Name: Cohen

Heroic feat: Winning the 2021 Origin Little Big Idea Years 5 & 6 category with his Biolumine Tree idea!

FAST FOUR WITH COHEN

K-Z: Hi Cohen! Why did you enter the Origin Little Big Idea competition?

C: My teacher introduced the competition. I just completed my Year 6 science fair project – I learned about bioluminescence and how creatures use it to protect, adapt, and communicate. I successfully cultivated natural bacteria, then introduced it to a green fluorescent protein, allowing it to glow under a UV light. I learned about global warming and its impact on our planet. My goal was to develop an idea that could make a difference.

K-Z: Tell us about your Biolumine Tree idea!

C: Biolumine is a dispenser strapped to a tree. The concept is introducing bioluminescent bacteria until adaptation, becoming bioluminescent, then used as a renewable light-based energy source to replace streetlights. The device consists of a timer powered by a spiral worm drive motor (using a rechargeable battery attached to a solar panel), that can inject bioluminescent material into the tree every four hours until adaptation.

K-Z: How did you feel when you won?

C: When I found out I was a finalist, I was shocked. Fast-forward a few weeks, and a typical day became a life-changing experience. As Dr Jordan Nguyen walked into our library, I recognised him and my heart raced. When he called my name, I was ecstatic.

K-Z: Any tips for K-Zoners who might enter?

C: Give it a go. The annual competition allows you to express ideas, learn new skills and meet amazing people. It's the experience of a lifetime. If you aren't successful the first time around, trust in the process, and you will have a lot of fun!

INTO THE M

OLD AND NEW CONNECTIONS WILL BE TESTED IN DOCTOR STRANGE'S NEW ADVENTURE!

DOCTOR STRANGE

Our favourite neurosurgeon-turned-sorcerer is on a mission to save the day – and all the days after that, because the multiverse is in danger! While jumping between dimensions and making new friends (or enemies), Doctor Strange will find he isn't the only Stephen Strange looking for adventure and trouble in the big bad multiverse. There's Defender Strange (who might be a hero), and a corrupted Strange. Listen for the shuffling feet of an undead variant too!

WONG

After the battle with Dormammu, Mordo left the group while Wong remained to care for the Sanctums. When Doctor Strange disappeared in the Blip, Wong became the Sorcerer Supreme. Since Avengers: Endgame, we've seen him fight Abomination in the Golden Daggers Club, analyse Shang-Chi's Ten Rings with Captain Marvel and Bruce Banner, and avoid the aftermath of a blizzard in the New York Sanctum in Spider-Man: No Way Home. We've been watching the Wong Cinematic Universe for years, and this movie is another addition to 'Phase Wong'!

AMERICA CHAVEZ

Young heroes are finally leaping into the Marvel multiverse, and America is one of the most powerful! This teenager has the ability to travel between dimensions with style – through a star-shaped portal. In the comics, she can pack a mighty punch, and has often teamed up with Kate Bishop, Cassie Lang, Kid Loki, Ms Marvel, Billy and Tommy, and more! With the multiverse getting mixed up and monsters marching through dimensions, she'll be a powerful ally for Strange.

MULTIVERSE

CHRISTINE PALMER

This talented surgeon was a longtime friend of Stephen's before his accident, but his cruelty while searching for a way to cure his injuries sent them on separate paths. After Strange was attacked by Kaecilius, he went to Christine for help. She operated on him while an astral battle took place, and saved his life! Now, Christine has continued on her own path and is trying to get married.

MORDO

A former Master of the Mystic Arts, Karl Mordo was an ally to the Ancient One, and trained Stephen at Kamar-Taj. He worked with Strange and Wong to fight Kaecilius, but was horrified to learn the Ancient One used forbidden practises to gain power. Seeing other Masters ignore natural laws, he decided to remove power from all sorcerers. How will Mordo feel about Strange's actions, more magic users, and anyone who affects reality in his world?

CHRISTINE (VARIANT)

Christine is back – back again. There are surprises in store with variants, but this Christine seems to be dedicating her time to multiverse mayhem, rather than medical matters. Looking like the Christine we know and trust may not mean we can completely trust her motives, but time will tell as she works with Doctor Strange and America Chavez!

WANDA MAXIMOFF

Now known as 'The Scarlet Witch', Wanda was an Avenger when she first met Strange. Is she still considered a hero? Harnessing her chaos magic abilities, Wanda has accessed the knowledge in the Darkhold, and wishes to reclaim the life she had in Westview, including her family. Haven't watched WandaVision? Fix that, soon. Her involvement in a plan to save the multiverse could be a blessing, or a curse.

Doctor Strange in the Multiverse of Madness is in cinemas now!

HOW TO DRAW

RACE INTO THIS GUIDE FOR DRAWING THE MOVIE VERSION OF SONIC THE HEDGEHOG!

1 READY, SET... GO!

Use a pencil to lightly

sketch the shape of the speedy hedgehog. Start with a circular shape for Sonic's heroic head. Add in the rounded crosshair to mark the centre of his face and eye line. Sketch triangles for the ears, and spiky fur. His body, feet and shoes are a bean shape, but his arms and legs are cylindrical, and his hands and fists are circles.

2 RACE TO THE FACE

Draw his large eyes. Add scribbly fur lines between the eyes. Draw Sonic's small pea-shaped nose and add his curved, smiling mouth beneath it. Add the lower portion of Sonic's face, like in the example.

3 STREAMLINED

Sketch in the blue blur's

triangle-shaped ears. Add the lines to the spiky fur behind his head, and add a few short curved lines for the CGI fur.

4 STEP IT UP

Time to draw in the chest and body details! Make squiggly outlines to look like fur. Do the same to outline Sonic's arms. Draw the wrist portion of the gloves, and add fists – do the thumbs first. Now, create Sonic's small pointy tail!

W SONIC

5 LEGGING IT

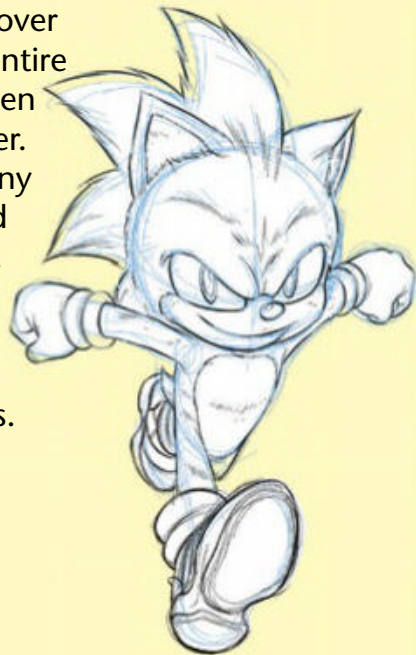

Time to create his legs!

Add a squiggly outline for the right leg. Draw the ankle area before the shoe, from the pointy toe to the heel. For Sonic's left leg, draw the thigh area, then the ankle. Draw his left shoe from the heel to the toe area.

6 WITHOUT A TRACE

Trace over your entire sketch using a pen or fine tip marker. You can make any adjustments and clean up details. Wait for the ink to completely dry, then erase the pencil marks.

7 THE FINISH LINE

Our speedy pal Sonic isn't called Blue Justice (patent pending) for nothing! You gotta get colour into this line art! Use your fave materials, tools or craft supplies to help Sonic start feeling blue! His snout is a beige or light tan brown colour, as well as his inner ears and chest. Add red and white for the shoes and gloves!

8 BONUS LEVEL

For an extra challenge, you can add a background to your Sonic sketch.

We decided to put Sonic with a few rings in the Green Hill Zone (totally iconic), but if you feel like adding him in your fave level, go for it! Sonic could even be racing through a location on Earth – it's up to you!

PIL'S ADVENTURE

MEET THE UNIQUE CHARACTERS FROM THIS NEW MOVIE, INCLUDING A REBEL HERO, A ROYAL WANNABE,

PIL

GREETINGS FROM FOGGYBURGH

Pil is a confident, hot-headed, and mischievous 12-year-old orphan, living in the medieval town of Foggyburgh. She's resourceful and agile, which has helped her survive growing up on the streets. Pil's best friends are two tamed weasels called Scratcher and Fluffy, who are always by her side and ready to help. Their sneaky skills are handy when Pil needs a wig or beard for her disguise! She also has a new weasel joining her loyal crew. Gobbly isn't as well-trained as Scratcher and Fluffy, and her love for pastries lands the team in trouble!

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

While trying to escape the castle guards after stealing food, Pil tries to disguise herself with a dress and is mistaken for a princess! After discovering that the regent Tristain wants to poison Crown Prince Roland and steal the throne, it's up to the 'princess' to save Foggyburgh from the selfish royal wannabe. Tristain may be selfish and mean, but there is someone else in the kingdom that he truly adores as much as himself – his dog, Nugget!

ADVENTURES

AL WANNABE, A CHICKAT, AND MORE!

CHICKAT CHALLENGE

It's time for Prince Roland to inherit the throne, but the naive prince doesn't realise his trusted regent wants to prevent it from happening. Tristain uses a potion to poison Roland, but it turns the prince into a chickat! What's that, you ask? It's a half cat, half chicken! Pil and her friends need the antidote, so Roland can stop clucking and meowing and return to his human form.

KNIGHT TO MEET YOU

Sure, Pil is resourceful and a lil acrobatic, but she'll need more than her skills and weasels to save the town. When her quest takes her to dangerous places like the Cursed Forest, and the Glen of the Beast, it's handy to have extra muscle in the crew! Graubart is a clumsy guard who works for Tristain, and spends most of his time chasing Pil. He actually thinks that Pil is a sprite, and then he mistakes her for a princess. When Pil promises to grant Graubart's lifelong dream to become a knight, he agrees to join her quest.

GRAUBART

PRINCE ROLAND

MISTER DASTARDO

JIGGLER

DON'T FORGET THE JOKES

Jiggler is a 13-year-old jester and ventriloquist. If you see him, there's a good chance his sock puppet, Mister Dastardo, is close by. Jiggler can be a scaredy-cat and needs to work on his jokes, but Mister Dastardo is bold and brave enough to make fun of the nobles in town! With Jiggler and Mister Dastardo in Pil's new crew, can she save Prince Roland and the kingdom?

Pil's Adventures

OBI-WAN

WE CHAT TO EWAN MCGREGOR AND MOSES INGRAM ABOUT NEW SERIES, OBI-WAN KENOBI!

EWAN MCGREGOR
AKA OBI-WAN KENOBI

KZ: Hi Ewan! We know where your character, Obi-Wan, ends up in the Star Wars universe. What do you hope fans learn about all of the characters and the world from this new series?

E: I always thought there was a good story to be had between Episode III and Episode IV; between the last one I did, and then Alec Guinness in A New Hope. I think we did find a really good story to tell. I don't know what I want the audience to take away or what they'll learn – I've no idea. What I thought would be interesting is taking a character we know and love, and putting them into a dark place. At the end of Episode III, the Jedi are being wiped out, we lose Padme, and I lose my best friend and my brother to the dark side. Obi-Wan feels responsible for that and is guilt-ridden about it. He's in hiding, Jedi are being hunted – the aim is to get rid of all the Jedi. I thought it would be interesting to take him into a sort of broken place where he's almost given up – he isn't practising the Force, or isn't practising his faith, if you like. That's where we start.

KZ: How much will Luke Skywalker appear in the Obi-Wan Kenobi series while Obi-Wan is on Tatooine?

E: At the beginning, Obi-Wan is trying to live a normal life and keep hidden. He doesn't want anyone to know he's a Jedi. He's trying to get on and is keeping an eye on Luke. I think that's the only thing he has left; to look over Luke and hope to protect him.

WANI

KZ: Hi Moses! We love the locations in the Star Wars universe! Did you film in any interesting or difficult locations, environments, or sets?

M: The first thing that comes to my mind are these rocks they engineered. If you touch it, it's heavy and jagged and looks like a rock. It feels like a rock! If you squeeze it, it turns to dust in your hand. I have no idea... My mind does not understand the technology of it. We were shooting a scene one day, and needed more rocks in a certain place. Props came over, Set came over, and I watched this man crumble a rock in his bare hands. I was so shocked. He was like, 'You can do it too!'

KZ: Reva is a new character. What would you hope to see in her future?

M: Hm. This is a good question. What I hope to see... A world she exists in?

MOSES INGRAM
AKA REVA

KZ: As a Force-sensitive Inquisitor, Reva is hunting down Jedi. How did you feel when you first saw the concept for your character?

M: Suttirat, who was our costume designer, is immensely talented and started building this uniform before she even knew who would be filling it. I feel really blessed that I got to be the person to do it. Just putting it on, I keep saying (but only because it's true) that wearing a cape was a dream that I didn't know I had. It's meant a lot to me.

CORALWATCHEE

ELIJAH IS THE FIRST CHILD TO BE A CORALWATCH AMBASSADOR!

KZ: Hi Elijah! How did you find out about the CoralWatch program?

E: When I was around five years old, I did my first community snorkel with CoralWatch. I had been snorkelling a lot, but I noticed more life and creatures than I had seen before with CoralWatch, so it was an incredible experience. CoralWatch educates people about the Great Barrier Reef, the needs of the coral and the environment around it. They teach ways to help, and monitor coral health with charts.

CLEANING THE BEACH IN BARGARA

KZ: You were in a campaign to ask Billie Eilish to provide 'Ocean Eyes' for CoralWatch's cause. What did you do?

E: I sent Billie Eilish a video asking if we could use her song 'Ocean Eyes' for CoralWatch's campaign. CoralWatch also sent messages and in the end, she said yes! We were all excited.

KZ: How can K-Zoners help?

E: Go with your passion. I feel strongly about the reef and marine debris, so I do beach clean ups. If you're not sure, ask a grown up!

KZ: What do you do as the 2022 CoralWatch Ambassador?

E: I try to educate people about the reef, its importance, and what we can do to help. So far, I've attended the ambassador course, spoken to the local Cubs and Scouts, and was also asked to appear as a guest speaker at an environmental education centre in Paluma. I talked about CoralWatch, how marine debris affects the environment, and also about the other things I do.

MCLAREN LEVELS UP

Ferrari nabbed top spot at the Formula 1 Australian Grand Prix in April, but the McLaren MCL36 Mercedes had our attention! Driven by Daniel Ricciardo from Australia and Lando Norris from the UK, the F1 ride featured the DeadlyScience logo on the side and the halo (the safety ring around the driver's head). So cool! One of McLaren's sponsors, Smartsheet, wanted to donate their advertising space on the MCL36 to a worthy not-for-profit organisation, and chose DeadlyScience! A life-sized LEGO McLaren F1 race car was also at the Grand Prix, created by Ryan 'Brickman' McNaught and 27 builders. The model took 1893 hours to build and used 288,315 bricks! People could sit in the driver's seat, and the build included cool mechanical features, like moving pistons for the V6 cylinder engine. In the (real and non-LEGO) Australian Grand Prix, Lando took fifth and Daniel scored sixth. Will they best their positions in Spain on May 22, Monaco on May 29, and Azerbaijan on June 12?

IDEAS LAB

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, ART AND MATHS!

Meet John Siemon, a horticultural scientist and Director of Horticulture for the Botanic Gardens, Greater Sydney. John loves plants and enjoys finding out what makes them tick!

K4: Hi John! What do you work on as a horticultural scientist?

J: Horticultural scientists study the growth and development of plants, including vegetables, fruit, and other crops. They help us understand why sunflowers face the sun, how we might grow plants in space, how we can grow more plants to feed the world's expanding population, and how plants perceive gravity. Most of the plant-based foods you eat involve a horticultural scientist who studied plants to improve the taste or the yield (the volume of fruit, seeds or nuts produced), and perhaps the shelf life of a fruit.

K4: Wow! What experience did you have before your current role?

J: I grew up in Brisbane, where I went to school and university. During my undergraduate studies, I had volunteer and casual jobs in flower farms, a wholesale tree production nursery, and also as a laboratory technician at CSIRO Tropical Agriculture! I moved to Sydney and commenced postgraduate studies working on ornamental crops (plants grown for flowers or foliage). I've worked for the Royal Botanic Garden Sydney for over 20 years, and worked my way up from laboratory manager to Director of Horticulture.

K4: Any career highlights so far?

J: In 2013, we completed the Australian PlantBank; a remarkable building that stores over 100,000,000 native seeds from all over Australia, including more than 70% of the State of NSW threatened and endangered plants. As the Project Manager for PlantBank's construction, I remain very proud of the building. I hope it will one day store samples from all of Australia's 25,000 seed-bearing plant species. If the seed is dried and stored correctly (at temperatures between 4 degrees and -196 degrees Celsius), we can help the seed live for several hundred years – maybe several thousand – and the seed can be used for restoration, research, and protecting plants from extinction.

K4: Are you working on any projects?

J: My team is always working on new projects and ways to conserve and protect plants from extinction. One of our favourites is the Calyx, our signature horticultural display space at the Royal Botanic Garden Sydney. 'Inside the Tide', our current exhibition, transports visitors under the ocean. We used land plants as 'actors' to play the parts of underwater plants. Don't tell anyone, but our next exhibition (in late 2022) is about diversity and will be a riot of colour!

FULLY LOADED LEAGUE

We're revved up and the reason is the latest season of Rocket League on page 32!

GAMES BY THE NUMBERS

5 new monstrous rides have zipped into Hot Wheels Unleashed. The Monster Trucks Expansion has new diorama tracks. Quash Quarry, dash in the Desert, juice through Jungle, and conquer cool Ice Mountain!

48 rad remastered courses are on the way to Mario Kart 8 Deluxe. There will be six waves, and eight courses dropping each time!

100 challenges are waiting to be conquered in Bugsmax: The Isle of BIGsnax. This dino-sized free-LC has it all; prehistoric Bugsmax, a beautiful island, and a stack of towering threats!

► COMIC COMP

Neo Tokyo has been a hot spot for nailing neat netters for yonks in Rocket League, but now all of those determined and driven devs at Psyonix have honked out a cool, colourful comic version of the full-throttle field. Splice in some car hoon with a dash of cartoon in this animated riff on the map. Bring the kapow to each round, and a bit of zap and boom to your zoom!

► NEXT-LEVEL NOMAD

Don't worry – ponying up for the heroic horsepower of the latest and greatest Rocket Pass comes with an immediate perk... The gnarly Nomad body! This very versatile van is built on the mighty Merc car body. It's much more than a van-ity project! All that extra height helps make it an awesome all-rounder, with deft defence, ace attack, and gassed goalkeeping!

► FAST FREEBIES

The Season 6 Rocket Pass packs in plenty of fantastic (and free) items. You can tune your player personalisation with new titles, banners, and avatar borders. We recommend you unlock item drops of ridiculous rarities, and then roll out the Roeler wheels. Plus, try to tweak your ride with an Alicorn topper, or cheese it up with the not-yo'-average Nacho paint finish! Looking good!

LEGENDS

Rocket League Season 6 until June 15!

► CHOMP-Y NOMSTER

Wanna add some monstrous flair to the whole vehicular affair and make over your car gear? The Rocket Pass packs plenty of bite with the Nomster unlocks. It all starts with the Nomster Player Banner, but the best bitey bit is the set of Nomster wheels. With these tyres on the job, you'll be armed to the teeth for defensive sideswipes in the comp. Other drivers will be eating your dust!

► OTHER NOMSTERS

To complete the Nomster look for your rad Rocket League ride, roll on through to the Nomster topper. Now, nab the Nomster antenna, nail the Nomster avatar border, and then nom into our favourite – the Nomster goal explosion. Yep! A giant Nomster face appears, vacuums up cars, chomps and chews 'em, and finally spits out all the itty bitty broken bits! Ha!

► FORNAX FLAIR

The best bonus bit of Season 6 is the Fornax Series swag. Not sure what we're on about? Well, these blueprints leave room to improve your vroom and tweak the look of your fave rides. So, start with the sleek Mamba Body. Pop on sci-fi Twirlwind wheels, or go for starry E-Zeke. You can complete a look that is out of this world with a sweet Startrack Rocket Boost for cosmic cred!

► SECRET STORMTROOPER
Since this is Star Wars (but with a few more bricks), you will get to blast stacks of stormtroopers! You can get the disguised drop on them by bashing bricks – this is the way to find the minifig bits you need to make your perfect disguise. Track down some white pants, a stormtrooper torso, and a bucket-head helmet. Pop ‘em all on, so you can trick troopers into thinking you’re one too!

► BLUE BITS
During the story missions or free play, keep an eye out for any of the blue exclamation marks that hover over the heads of minifigs of interest. They’ll offer location hints or treasure tips (like Kyber Bricks). Follow the clues to score big and unlock new stuff. If the minifig can’t speak Galactic Basic, you can get help from C-3PO (or another protocol pal) to nab all the necessary deets!

► MIND-TRICK MASTERY
Jedi minifigs are already mighty with lightsabers and Force push, but did you know that masters like Obi-Wan Kenobi can also use Jedi mind tricks! These are handy for controlling baddies in order to open locked doors, but they also work in a blaster-bolt brawl. Confuse the Imps with a timely trick and unleash hilarious hijinks, or pop them on some Banthas for LOLs!

ORCE MYSTERIES

o dig up some of its raddest mysteries!

► BREAK 'N' BUILD

Breaking bricks, then building something new is nothing new to LEGO games – or IRL LEGO. The Skywalker Saga also has rad multiple-choice builds, so there's always plenty to bash, blast, or 'saber in every set you see. Got a build prompt? Hold the stick left or right for options, like a controllable turret or electric trap to slow all of those woeful foes and keep them on their toes!

► HORIZON HINTS

The Skywalker Saga gives you a heads up whenever you are continuing a story mission. The story missions are definitely fun, but you can also keep exploring the area you're in. This game is stuffed with secrets. Don't forget to look up, so you can spot the special spots to climb! Clamber higher and higher so you can nab peak prizes while clinging to cliffsides and rickety ladders.

► STACKIN' STUDS

It's a LEGO game, so there are stacks of studs everywhere. Obvs! So, let's go and grab that LEGO gear for starters. After that, you'll find that nabbing True Jedi stud status is a whole lot trickier. You can smash absolutely everything for more studs, and nail perfect timing for those button-prompt challenges. Plus, blast cover apart and then rebuild it for EZ studs! May the Force be with you!

SPLASHING OUT

Uppercut Games' Director and Co-Founder Ed Orman dives deep into the depths of the super-chill exploration sequel, Submerged: Hidden Depths – made in Canberra, Australia!

K: Hi Ed! What's the backstory for the world of Submerged: Hidden Depths?

E: At the start of the game, the two siblings, Miku and Taku, boat into this mysterious, sunken city. The pair are determined to investigate the city, and maybe even help restore it.

K: Do Miku and Taku get along?

E: Like any siblings, they have disagreements, but they love each other. They have been through a lot. That relationship is tested as the game progresses.

K: Is the sunken city a real city, a fictional city, or a fusion of many real cities?

E: The city isn't one city in particular. We deliberately tried to create an 'every city', with elements of different cities across the world, mixed in together.

K: Who created the term 'relaxploration'?

E: It was actually Bajo (of Good Game at the time). He said we needed a way to describe the wave of non-combat, exploration games. I think it's the best description of the Submerged games. We want players to have a relaxing experience, in a safe but intriguing world they can explore at their leisure.

K: How do you tackle puzzle-platforming?

E: It's a tricky balance. We treat each building as a maze to explore. The right path is clearly signposted, but there are still reveals and gotcha moments.

K: What hidden depths were you able to add that you couldn't do for the first game?

E: We've added much more for players to do! We added more complexity and more interactions, without losing the relaxing experience.

K: Any exciting details to look out for?

E: You can gather massive flowers from the side of buildings. As you display the flowers at your home base, something interesting happens...

2022DID YOU KNOW?

The original game was also called Kao the Kangaroo, so no 'Remaster' name for the new version! The orig came out over 20 years ago, and the perky platformer series also scored sequels; Kao the Kangaroo: Round 2 in 2003, and Kao the Kangaroo: Mystery of the Volcano in 2005.

KAO THE KANGAROO

Say hey to Kao the Kangaroo, a mighty marsupial that doesn't mind boxing a few baddies or leaping into larger-than-life platforming!

Which critter would win in a brawl: a kangaroo or a bandicoot? OK, so Kao the Kangaroo doesn't answer that wild creature query, but it does share a few similarities with the Crash Bandicoot series we know and love. Adorable Aussie marsupial as lead? Check. Platform, puzzling, and even occasional biffing? Tick. Remastered version of an awesome ancient game? You bet! In this action-packed game, you can find all kinds of chaos on the hunt for Kao's missing father. Kao is great at jumping and tail thumping, but the star of the show – uhh, game – has a few extra tricks! You can use his superpowered boxing gloves, or make him swing by his ears! You will need to crack puzzles and snatch up treasures to help Kao get the most out of his adventure. This wonderfully wild world is packed with a cool and kooky cast of characters. Make new besties, fight foes, and get the jump on this joyful jaunt!

DID YOU KNOW?

Developer Gameloft has made great games for over 20 years! Some of our favourites include the Asphalt racing games, Ice Age Adventures HD, Ice Age Village, LEGO Legacy: Heroes Unboxed, and LEGO Star Wars: Castaways.

DISNEY SPEEDSTORM

Where else can you pit the peeps from Pirates of the Caribbean against the monstrous mates of Monsters Inc.? Try even more combos in Disney Speedstorm!

These master mechanics know how to make a Disney game. There was Disney Getaway Blast, and then Disney Magic Kingdoms. Now the devs are switching gears! Disney Speedstorm chucks your fave Disney and Pixar peeps into a rad racer. Blast ahead with Mickey's mastery of symphonic speed. Bump foes with Sulley's monstrous might. Explode into the fray with Mulan's big booms. Want to zip to the lead? Well, where are you putting pedal to the metal? There are tons of familiar track settings! You could drift through the docks of Pirates of the Caribbean, wheelie in the wilds of The Jungle Book, or make masterful moves in the mayhem of the Monsters Inc. map. Nail that perf-timed nitro boost and drive into corner drifts to snag the top spot. You'll need to combo boom with vroom, like Mario Kart! Each of the fan-fave characters has their own unique skills. Upgrade to make them even stronger, and then take on your friends in splitscreen showdowns!

RUMBLEVERSE

Stop that grumbling, and start getting ready to rumble instead! It's almost time to tumble head-first into the loud and proud Rumbleverse!

You can grab it all in Grapital City, but what exactly are you grabbing? Epic battle-royale wins! Rumbleverse follows in the Victory Royale footsteps of Fortnite, except instead of building and blasting, you're rumbling and tumbling. To start, build your unique competitive champion. Go bulky or lanky, chuck on wild hair or a chicken mask, and you're ready to rumble. Shoot out of the cannon into a city. This is your giant fighting ring. It's like a superpowered WWE 2K22 tournie. Dash up a building, smash a foe, and then body slam another from rooftop to road. Go ham with your fists, or nab chairs, post boxes or signposts to smack down your opponents. Try to bounce off the roof of a car, pull heaps of perf flips, and then bring the biff from above with a powerful pounce. Don't forget to celebrate either! You need to rough up other rascals as the ring closes in, and be the last rumbler standing.

PRO TIP!

Button mashing might work in Super Smash Bros. Ultimate, but stow that strat for WWE 2K22. Keep your cool combos cryptic in order to keep your opponents guessing. If you mash your light or heavy attacks, they are easy to counter. Mix up lights, heavies, and grapples to keep your foes on their toes!

WWE 2K22

Make way for the next major Superstar, with skills to rival the greatest heels and faces ever seen in the ring or on screen. Who is it? You!

The only way to ring in as the champ in WWE 2K22 is wringing foes around the ring. Before you become the lord of the ring, strap on your Superstar training boots. Drew Gulak is your couch combo coach, and will take you from totes slack to peak attack. Training helps you belt the line up of opponents for a chance to nab the championship title belt. Following that path will mean taking (and also giving) a belting! Master the moves and you will soon be running rings around the roster of rowdy rascals. Create the wildest wrestler for your hard-hitting career, or just jump into the fun with WWE's biggest names. You can rock and roll as The Rock, battle boofheads as (pre-Drax) Dave Bautista, or disappear into the role of John Cena. We love the big hits, the bigger music hits, and the even bigger moves. KIRBY AND THE FORGOTTEN LAND

Prepare to be sucked into an unforgettable and extremely imaginative journey in this wildly weird and wonderful world!

The Pink Puff is back, and really ready to right all the wretched wrongs of a world gone rough. Kirby and the Forgotten Land is legendarily legit. The events of this adventure start out fairly shiny. The big (pink) star, Kirby, is riding an actual big star, but then a bigger, darker star opens in the sky and voraciously vacuums everyone away. That's totally stealing Kirby's signature move! What a rude reversal! Kirby wakes up with a mouthful of sand (no abilities gained from that), but there are serious stacks of cool copy abilities in this massive world. If you're a Kirby fan, you know the drill. Vacuum foes into Kirby's gob to nab their abilities. This game has some of our favourites, like inhaling a car and zooming around, and even swallowing a traffic cone and using the pointy end to smash stuff. There's a ton of stuff to unlock in this game, plus plenty of pals to save, and secrets to sniff out to save the day!

Speed boosts are everything in Chocobo GP. The game teaches you the starting boost (accelerate when the timer hits '2'), plus drifting for long enough on corners to boost. You should be drifting on straights, too. Drift near the middle of the track for the most control. Boost, then drift again!

CHOCOBO GP

The real art of making a kart race is making the heart pump and upping the pace of a sideways-drifting, leader-shifting showdown!

Kart racing is all the craze these days. Mario Kart is marvellous, Nickelodeon Kart Racers 2: Grand Prix is grandiose, and Crash Team Racing: Nitro-Fueled is full-throttle fun. Now a new kart competitor is speeding up the track to join the pack. Chocobo GP has the motorised mayhem of the high-speed genre's greatest hits. Kooky karts, creative characters, sideways speed boosts, and supercharged pick-ups. Keep an eye out for Magicite magic eggs. Fire up foes with a front-firing fire attack. Make a splash behind to spin-out pesky pursuers. We dig how stacking Magicites can lead to even more powerful abilities for you to use. Do you patiently wait, or tactically pop? At these high speeds, you have to act fast! Chuck on your training wheels in the cute Story Mode. ► LEGENDARY LANDING

Riders Republic makes it easier for rookie riders out of the gate with automatic landing, but get more control by disabling it. Press start, head to options, then switch Landing Mode to manual under Gameplay settings. This unlocks more control, which means bigger combos, and more tricks and points!

► TUNING TESTING

Wanna test car tuning in Gran Turismo 7? Pick a twisty, turn-y track, like Deep Forest Raceway. Start a Time Trial. Set the fastest time in the car you want to tune. Tune that car. Race the same track again in your tuned car to see how it goes against the ghost car of your best lap time!

OUR WISH TO CHAT TO THE CAST OF THE FAIRLY ODD PARENTS: FAIRLY ODDER WAS GRAN

KZ: In Fairly Odd Parents: Fairly Odder, Viv and Roy have chaotic experiences with Cosmo and Wanda's help. Is there a story from your own life that would make a perfect plot point in an episode?

AG: On the plane to LA to start filming the show, I met Ryan James (who plays my dad) and didn't realise it was him. We didn't really talk, then I ran into him again and was like, 'He's from the show!' It would be funny if Viv ran into someone and didn't realise they were super important, like a celebrity.

T: I had a dream I joined the NBA – it would be a good episode if Roy joined the NBA. He'd be better than everyone else there!

I: I like to venture off and get lost. It would be funny if Zina got lost and they had to find her.

S: We lived in Bangkok for a few years when I was six. We took a voyage to Malaysia, on a commercial boat, and no one was there to greet us. They rustled up three motorcycles with side cars, and my parents sent me and my brothers on motorcycles. We had a joy ride through the jungle, and when we got to the hotel, my parents were sweating!

D: There was a notoriously steep hill in town. At the bottom was just a 'T', and the road went left and right. I was going down once on my old, clunky bike. I hit the brakes (I had to hit both back and front tire at the same time), and saw the pads that squeeze the tire shoot right out in front of me. I was left with only the rear brake, and nearly went off the road into a ditch, a cliff, and barbed wire. I could have used a fairy at that point!

ODDER

TED!

KZ: What was your favourite line?

AG: I have a line where I think I say 'That was Shakespeare. That was Macbeth.' That's one of my favourites, it's a funny scene.

T: I got to pretend I was in a 1980s action movie, and I had a lot of fun lines!

I: I had lines as a World War II nurse in one episode, and the accent was so fun. I also had to do a Xena warrior cry – it was difficult to get to the right pitch, but very fun.

D: My favourite line (and I don't think I'm giving anything away) is as Cosmo is racing into another room, and he says, 'I want that cheese!' and I don't know anything other than that, but apparently he's after cheese!

S: I have very few brain cells left, so I can't think of a line, but I will say that I love the writing in the series – it's funny, tight, playful, and loving in its own way.

Check out more of our chat with the cast at

KZONE
COM.AU

KZ: What was the hardest scene to film without laughing?

AG: 'Da Wish App' – there's a scene at the end where everyone's singing and Viv is the only one not partaking. The camera comes up to my face and I was trying so hard not to laugh, that was probably the hardest time.

T: Every single scene with the parents; they're professionals and so funny, so on time, and always thinking of new ideas.

I: 'The Forbidden Phrase', when the parents come in like old-school teenagers, like 'Yo, what's up!' That was really funny.

WE RUN TO

WE CHAT TO NAT AMOORE AND MIKE BARRY ABOUT THEIR NEW BOOK, WE RUN TOMORROW!

KZ: Hi Nat and Mike! The main characters in We Run Tomorrow go on a big adventure. What was your biggest adventure as a kid?

N: I tried to run away from home a bunch of times. I never got very far. We lived on a farm with a long driveway, and I kept getting attacked by magpies as I tried to leave. I used to sneak onto the neighbour's farm too. Doing that meant sliding under an electric fence, dodging an angry bull, and getting to the back of the property where there was a swamp with lots of bugs and creepy crawlies to throw at my brother.

M: I once unwittingly camped in a dry riverbed with some friends. It was pretty uneventful, until it started pouring with rain and we all awoke to find ourselves floating out of the tent, down the river... Except for the one guy who didn't have an inflatable mattress. He was just wet.

30 SECOND CHALLENGE

WRITE WHY YOU LIKED CREATING THIS BOOK TOGETHER!

N: Mike is one of the most talented and creative people I've ever met. He is very funny, plus one of my best friends and favourite people. He brought so much to this book and these characters, I couldn't have done it without him. Don't tell him because he might get a big head. He also has a pool, which is my favourite thing.

M: Nat is not only a creative genius, she's also an extremely generous collaborator. Plus she's one of my best friends.

KZ: Sticks, Maki, Jed, and Tommy get in a bit of trouble after they run away. Did you get in trouble as a kid?

N: All the time! I was always trying to find new ways to entertain myself when I was a kid, because we lived on a big property with no other kids around and no one to play with (my big brother wouldn't play with me). I tried to jump from our roof into the pool – got in trouble. I tried to drive the neighbour's tractor – got in trouble. I tried to fix Mum's iron by pulling it apart and then couldn't put it back together – got in trouble. So yeah, it was eat, sleep, and get in trouble for me!

M: No, I was a perfect child.

TOMORROW

KZ: Which character was the easiest for you to write, and the hardest?

N: Strangely, the answer to both questions is the same – Sticks. Sticks was the easiest because there is so much of me in Sticks, so I instinctively knew how the character would react, think, and speak. Sticks was also hardest because of what the character is going through. I wanted to be sensitive yet realistic with that experience. I wanted the reader to really feel what Sticks was feeling, and that is a hard thing to do.

KZ: Did you have a favourite Screen Savers issue to create?

M: This is a difficult one. I loved working on this book, and every Screen Savers issue I created, I enjoyed more than the last... I guess that means my favourite was the final issue (#41)! It's a little different from the others, being more reflective in tone, and it represents the finale of the whole book, so I knew it had to be cool. The final page ended up being pretty special to me, so I hope the readers feel the same.

MIKE

KZ: What do you think is the most important quality in a friend?

N: Being there for each other. It's impossible to be a perfect friend. We are all human and make mistakes. You might have fights, disagree, or get upset, but when a friend needs you, you're there, no matter what. It also helps if you like the same comic books.

M: Loyalty.

KZ: The Screen Savers have hero names like Wiki, Filter, Skydrop, and Hispeed. What would be your name?

N: Aeroflip! I used to be a trapeze artist, so if I was a hero I would flip and fly through the air – like a cross between Spider-Man and Robin, but with an even sweeter costume.

M: MikeDrop! I always have to have the last word.

EXTREME

SPORTS

WORLD-FIRST FEAT

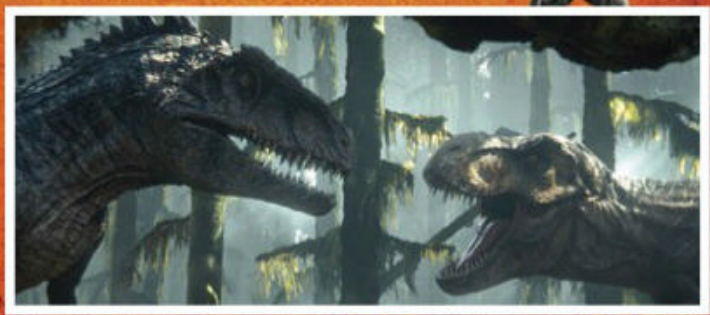

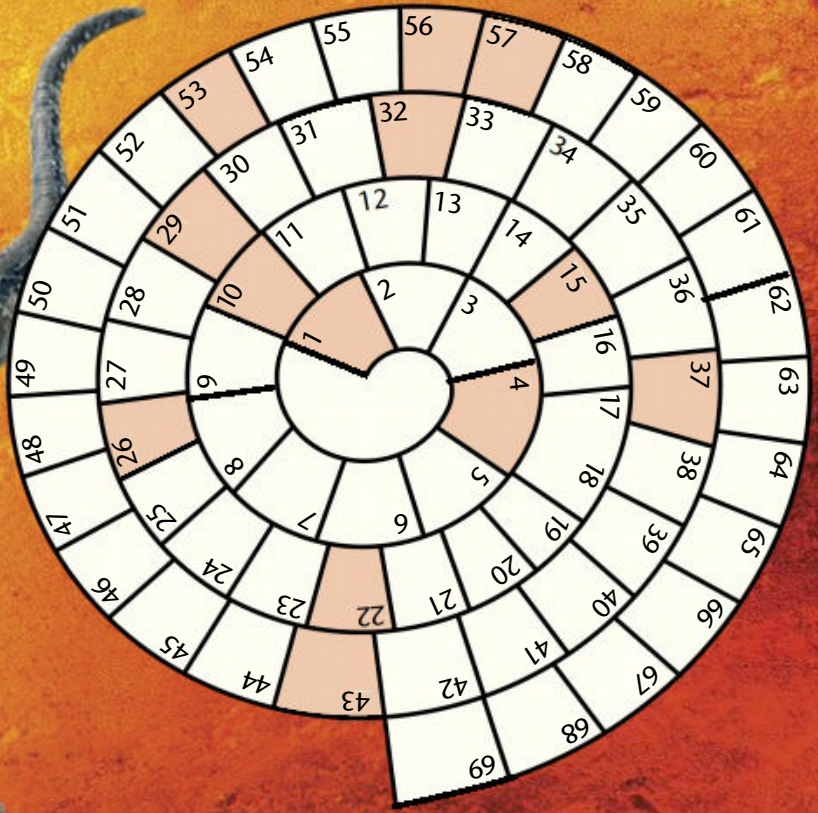

Talk about worlds colliding! Freestyle motocross driver Tom Pagès combined his sport with parachuting in order to pull off an epic stunt that's never been done before. In October 2021, Tom launched a double front flip off a 135-metre-high cliff in Avoriaz, France, then landed with a parachute... and rode away. What?! To accomplish this extreme feat, the five-time X Games Moto X gold medallist accelerated up a seven-metre ramp at 80 km/h, then soared away from the cliff for over 55 metres to do the flip. After that, he experienced free falling at 150 km/h, before opening his parachute to land on the ground... 170 metres below! Amazing tech was also used in this stunt, and Tom's parachute was designed with a manual release that was integrated into the seat of his motorcycle! He was stoked to combine two passions in one stunt and we can't wait to see his next mash up!
